COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

As perhaps many of you know, Nov. 13, 14 and 15 were the dates selected for the Annual Maine Municipal Meetings. Mr. Abbott and Mr. Carter attended the Assessor's meetings held Wednesday. The Assessor's Association has recognized the Town of Bethuel this year as having made an advance in their method of assessment. It is my understanding that a fitting scroll is to be forwarded later.

The new part of these meetings planned by and for Managers was used to consider the problems of law enforcement in the various aspects as Managers are concerned. I am very pleased to tell you that our night officer, Albert Cotton, was present at the Wednesday morning meeting, and I feel both Mr. Cotton and myself received quite a bit of worthwhile information on this subject.

Thanks,
O. T. Rozelle

ACROSS the DESK

From the Calkins Mountain Star, Bangor, N. Y. One of the saddest facts of modern life is the failure of many people—men, women, and even children—to take a personal interest in the development of a happy, safe and intelligent family.

Men who are wanderers in the business world often make miserable failures as husbands and fathers. Mothers, who are attractive in looks and intelligent in activities, often fail miserably in making their homes happy and safe. Children who are strong and healthy are often spoiled and indulged by their parents.

Let us make it plain that we are not talking about discipline, punishment or rewards. We are referring to the people who are qualified to be the backbone of local society and the peace-makers of local affairs in their communities. How do we intend to assert that charming family life does not exist in this area. What we call attention to is that, too often, it is not to be found in the homes where one would expect to find the closest family.

There will be some people who read this and realize that their family, as a social unit, is happy, harmonious, cooperative and completely satisfied by any standard. These families are to be admired. Whether they know it or not, they are a great deal more fortunate than many others.

There will be other men and women who will instantly admit to themselves that their own home life and its development of admirable family traits is not as it might have been or could be. What is the reason?

Poiled down, let's call it plain selfishness, and then think the problem through on this basis. The solution of many a family feud and the end of many blood battles will be the result of such solid, sincere thinking, and a determination to do something about it.

From the Waverly Sun, Waverly, N. Y. There were few jurisdictional worries in colonial times. If a man's home was attacked by Indians, he and his family had to fight for their lives with what help they could get from neighbors.

Then came the age of specialization and delegation. The trend of responsibility was away from the family and community.

War and disaster were among the problems delegated to the specialists. We felt the impact in multiplying crises in national emergencies, but war's destruction, for all except those who served, was no closer than a movie screen.

TODAY'S Meditation

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, November 15

Read Matthew 5:21-24.

First be reconciled to thy brother. (Matthew 5:24)

MANY of us have difficulty feeling a real sense of inner peace. The truth stands out—we cannot build a fence around a little world of our own creation and thereby achieve peace. Isolation only adds to the maze of unrest within us. God made us creatures who need fellowship; we need one another. Our main problem is living in such a way as to be a blessing to others.

One of the greatest helps in achieving inner peace is to make sure that the line between ourselves and our fellow men is cleared of all human meanness that keeps us from God. According to Jesus, we cannot have God's blessings when there is a grievance between a neighbor and ourselves.

Reconciliation brings a lift to living. More than that, it opens many adventurous highways that lead us into the presence of our good, loving, and kind heavenly father.

Often the price we pay for reconciliation is terrific. But the prize we gain is the peace of God which passes all understanding.

Prayer.

Our heavenly Father, give us largeness of heart to mend the wrongs we have done against those and our fellow men. Lead us to Thy blessed altar of peace. In the name of Christ, our Redeemer, we ask It. Amen.

Thought For The Day

Christ is our peace.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Rev. Robert H. Harper

AUTUMN LEAVES

AT THE old two-story house in which I once lived there was a great oak tree that sent its topmost branches over the roof. And in the autumn of the year, ere I fell asleep at night, I heard at intervals the sound of leaves falling on the roof. Then there would come silence, and I knew the leaves had bounced off the roof to fall through the darkness into the moist earth.

The simple sound of leaves on the roof set me to thinking of the destined and of them should we say that the leaves were destined to fall and rot away? Yes, but we would express only a part of the truth. They are destined to rot away, yes, but in their rotting away there would come continuing life, for in the fall of the leaves, there is the promise of future bursts of oak.

The changes of the leaves, through all the years of autumn, until they, too, perish, like the leaves, also bring to us the thought of renewed life. So may we find in loss a gain to watch and learn to look down the corridors of time for the rewards of faith and hope.

Whether in forest and in field or in the rooms of the heart, let us remember that beyond the winter there will come the radiant springtime and the beautiful summer.

WANT TO WIN A BET?

Citizens Public Expenditure Survey suggests that "If you want to win a bet, bet your neighbor he can't tell you how much taxes he pays in a year." The odds are overwhelming that he can't—because of the vast number of hidden, indirect, and so-called "painless" taxes that exist. Here's the way the tax bill works out, according to a recent authoritative computation. If you make $67.30 a week, you pay $1.013 a year.

bank, Rodney Dickson of Kennebank; Conrad Knox of West Paris.

In taxes. If you make $65.45 a week, you pay $1.425 a year. And if you've got a job paying $7,500 a year, the tax collectors will get $2,697 of it—more than a third.

The Survey states: "At $65.45 a week, you work more hours to pay your taxes than for food and clothing combined." Tell that to those who still say that taxation is a serious problem only to the rich!

Dosens of publications on farming and homemaking are included in the list issued by the Extension Service of the University of Maine.

LOCAL MAN QUALIFIES FOR NATIONAL SAW CHAIN SERVICE ORGANIZATION

Lloyd B. Lowell at this town has completed a special training course in the proper maintenance of saw chain, bars and sprockets. Under the sponsorship of Oregon Saw Chain Corp., Portland, Oregon, this training is part of a nation-wide service program to provide chain saw dealers with the latest "know-how" in cutting chain and accessories. The announcement was made recently in Portland, Oregon, by G. L. McDowell, Sales Manager of the company.

Qualification is based upon completion of a factory-supervised training course by Lloyd B. Lowell's service personnel. The local firm handles Homelite chain saws besides Oregon chain and accessories in this area.

"With increasing numbers of high-speed, direct-drive chain saws being used by both professional and non-professional timber workers, correct chain filing and maintenance is more important than ever," McDowell stated in commenting on the qualifications on Lloyd B. Lowell's shop as an Oregon Task Force Service Unit.

"Manufacturers have made big strides in engineering more horse power and less weight into the chain, saw and bar maintenance by newer model chain saws. Yet even a few minutes of chain misuse, or incorrect chain filing and servicing, counteract all the efficiency built into this area."

Every Family Needs Its Own Cinematographer

Yes, every family not only needs its own cinematographer, but every member of the family ought to be one. It is an impressive title, but really just means one who takes pictures with a movie camera.

There's no better way to keep a record of family life than in full color home movies that reproduce all of the brilliance and motion of the activity or scene that caused you to want to take pictures.

We're especially excited about home movie-making for all members of the family since we heard about a new camera that came on the market just a few weeks ago. It's the movie version of the familiar fixed focus or box still camera.

With this camera you make one simple setting of the lens, wind the motor, and shoot. And, there's a guide on the front to tell you which setting to use, according to the way the weather is.

Birthdays, weddings, graduations, holidays, and all the little every day things that are the material from which happy memories are made—will be kept fresh, colorful, and full of action in your movie films.

Liberal, Kan., Southwest Daily Times: "Longevity is the ideal today. In 1920 there were 6.4 million children orphaned in losing one or both of their parents, while last year the number dropped to 2.7 million. The decline, cut largely by improved medical science is even more significant when considering the great increase in the number of children under 18—a total of 55.5 million in 1955 compared to 40 million in 1920."
